Megatrends are global equity themes that define our future in the context of a global transforming world. The 10 megatrends selected for this index are obesity & wellness, climate change, food security, longevity, millennials, education, safety, energy efficiency, waste and water. The index provides exposure to those identified megatrends by selecting high dividend yielding and low volatility stocks out of a selection of 30 industry sectors which were deemed the most likely to be positively impacted by them. The index is rebalanced quarterly and includes constraints on the number of constituents per industry sector. The 30 industry sectors are fixed.
